Cubmaster Minute

Doing our Duty to God is something we state every time we say the Scout Oath. The BSA doesn't tell us which religion to practice or even to attend service each week. Rather it is the basis of being trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean. "Duty to God" has always been a cornerstone of Scouting. Lord Robert Baden-Powell affirmed this on numerous occasions. B-P once responded to a question about the importance of faith (religion) in Scouting by saying: "Where does religion come in? Well, my reply is ... it does not come in at all. It is already there. It is the fundamental factor underlying Scouting and Guiding."

With Scout Sunday coming up in February I encourage you to share your faith traditions with your Scout.
